Ways Of Giving To Smith

An excellent education is expensive. The process of planning and anticipating change is constant and the cost of responding to those changes must be met. Because of the generosity and loyalty of Smith alumnae, parents and friends, the college has been successful in keeping pace with the changing needs of new generations of Smith students. Choosing how to make your gift to the college provides an opportunity to contemplate the roots of that loyalty and to remember that in giving to Smith, you are returning the fruits of your life to a young woman at the beginning stages of her own.

Capital and Annual Gifts

Both capital and annual giving are necessary to maintain Smith's excellence. Capital gifts will provide funding for the major projects and programs of The Campaign for Smith. The annual support provided through the Alumnae Fund and the Parents Fund must also continue throughout The Campaign since their contributions to the college's current operating expenses are essential to its financial well-being.

Alumnae will be solicited for both annual and capital gifts during The Campaign for Smith, in many cases in a coordinated solicitation. All gifts to Smith College will count toward The Campaign goal.
